HOW TO GET INFORMATION

From the United States Department of Agriculture

Office of Public Affairs/Communications

June 1993

This directory lists sources of information in the U.S. Department of Agriculture and its various agencies. It also includes names of the various Freedom of Information Act officers. When seeking information, contact the person in charge of information on the subject matter in which you are interested. When uncertain about the source, call the USDA Information Center at 202-720-2791.

Most of the electronic mail addresses of offices or individuals shown are on the Federal FTS2000MAIL network provided by AT&T. The e-mail addresses are those used by those on the FTSMail system. Those on the Internet or other public or private systems need to find out the addressing scheme to send messages to those on the FTSMail system.

Office of Public Affairs/Communications

OPA is integral to the historical and current mission of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This office coordinates and assists with the flow of public information from USDA program agencies, reviewing all publications and audiovisuals, evaluating new information technology, maintaining availability of current information from the Office of the Secretary, ensuring operation of adequate and appropriate channels for dissemination of information to the public, and optimizing public access to USDA information through the news media. OPA administers USDA's computerized information delivery (CID) service and AgNewsFax service, and coordinates the public affairs electronic mail network through the FTSMail and other e-mail systems. OPA also provides departmental coordination of responses under the Freedom of Information Act, Privacy Act, and its amendment, Computer Matching Act.
